TITLE: Sr. V. President

EXHIBIT A

Gold Line Telemanagement Inc. ("the Company") has established the procedures that ensure compliance with the FCC CPNI Rules. It should be noted that the Company is a debit card-based long distance carrier, and our business is the sale of debit cards on a wholesale basis to distributors who sell them to end-users. The Company does not maintain any records of specific calls made by end-users of our debit cards that can be associated with individual customer identities. With respect to our wholesale customers, no records are maintained that relate to their respective telecommunications usage or network configurations. Therefore, there is little activity that implicates the FCC CPNI Rules. We are headquartered in Canada, which imposes very strict privacy protection obligations on us, and we train our personnel to maintain the confidentiality of our customer records. Our personnel manuals describe our confidentiality policies and procedures, which are in accord with the FCC CPNI Rules to the extent such Rules are relevant to the nature of our business. Any complaints by any customers concerning the confidentiality of their records must be reported immediately to Shawn Reyhani. That individual provides any required regulatory compliance filings to the appropriate regulatory authorities.
